Venetian “Goblet” and Other Glass Finds from Sovinec Castle
Kateřina Vaňurová

The article aims to present glass finds from Sovinec Castle, which are now stored in the collections of the Silesian Museum in Opava. Although only fragments of four glass objects have been preserved, these finds still tell a lot about the social conditions of the castle owners in the late Middle Ages and early modern times. Among the finds, a Venetian Goblet, which has no analogy in Moravia or Silesia yet, stands out.

Housing Development of Karlova Studánka in the Second Half of the 19th and at the Beginning of the 20th Century. Part I.
Robert Šrek

The study deals with the architectural and urban development of the spa complex in Karlova Studánka in the second half of the 19th century and at the beginning of the 20th century. Based on a detailed survey of archival sources stored in the Land Archive in Opava, it looks at the process of transformation of this spa in a broader scope; it does not only notice the architects themselves and the stylistic changes in the buildings, but it also examines the role of the individual components of the administrative apparatus of the Order of the Teutonic Knights. There are two basic periods in the development of Karlova Studánka: 1) from the 1850s to the 1880s; 2) from the 1890s until 1918. The study is published as a serial comprising three parts.
